Partner With Us.

A Poetic Health provides our Food Handler Training & Certification program as a Partnership Opportunity to select educational institutions and programs. We want to share this opportunity with those creating food we love, and those doing work we believe in.

As a Partner Agent, you take advantage of reduced rates, added flexibility, and an interactive program you can incorporate into your curriculum. Use it as your food safety unit, or as an add-on to other topics discussed, Flexible enough to use as a self-study or guided delivery option, or assign it as in-class work and have students work through the program in groups. Exam proctor rights and material authorization allows you to link resources and/or certification into your curriculum, certify groups as you need to, use our exam as your final unit exam, extract a grade for your records, and use A Poetic Health as the certifying body year after year. It's that simple!! Finally, your students get an in-class industry-recognized certification attached to your core curriculum that they can use to add value to their resumes, increase employment prospects, and use as PD in their respective fields.
