Partner With Us.

A Poetic Health provides our Food Handler Training & Certification program as a Partnership Opportunity to select organizations and community programs. We want to share this opportunity with those creating food we love, and those doing work/providing services we believe in.

Certify groups as you need to, or purchase a license to use our modules as your basic in-house training for all your employees. As a Partner Agent, you take advantage of low rates, added flexibility, and a do-it-yourself format. Approved by the Ministry of Health and accepted by all health units. Content/topic requirements must be maintained across providers and health unit programs - but the delivery and partner opportunity is what sets us apart.

As a team of Certified Educators and Health Inspectors - we do things a little different. We take dry information and create the most engaging content we can, with you and your participants in mind. An interactive study option with content, video games, activities, music and funny movie clips that will guide participants through their learning journey, all the while making it easy to implement and incorporate into your programs and safety training protocols. Our online program caters to diverse learning styles to ensure knowledge is retained and easily incorporated on the job. Participants can go through it in groups or individually. Something you can include year after year, while minimizing the need for a middle person.

Training & Certification is applicable to a variety of business settings including, food service operations, community programs, hospitals and other healthcare facilities, long term care facilities, educational settings such as schools and childcare facilities, and more,

As a Partner, you also take advantage of discounted consulting rates, our experience and technical knowledge as Public Health Inspectors, and best practice guidance relating to food safety and infection control for your workplaces. We are here to help guide you.
